Together we can

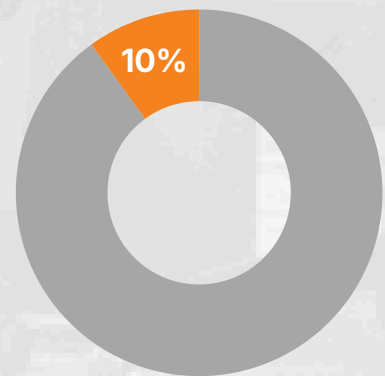

Your Investment Shapes the Next Generation Workforce

A proven model delivering education, health, and equity outcomes across 6 countries and 3 continents.

The Workforce & ESG Challenge Corporations Must Address

A convergence of talent scarcity, workforce readiness gaps, and gender inequality is reshaping the global workforce and increasing pressure on corporate leaders to act.

Only 10% of large companies are ahead on ESG readiness

This creates a clear opportunity for companies to lead rather than follow.

ESG stands for Environmental, Social, and Governance. It is a set of standards used by investors and companies to measure how a business acts regarding sustainability, ethical impact, and risk management.

60%

of youth lack job-ready skills, entering the workforce without what employers need of the global STEM workforce are women, limiting access to available talent

28%

85M

global talent shortage by 2030, threatening business growth and competitiveness

Driving Impact Through Strategic Partnership

Striving For All operates an integrated youth development model aligned with the UN Sustainable Development Goals (SDG), focused on strengthening education, wellbeing, and equitable access to opportunity.

Our UN (SDG) Aligned Model

SDG 4 – Quality Education
STEM, AI, and digital literacy programs preparing youth for tomorrow's workforce.

SDG 5 – Gender Equality
Programs expanding technology education and career pathways for girls and young women.

SDG 3 – Good Health and Well-Being
Mental health and community health programs strengthening resilience and school participation.

What Your Partnership Unlocks

Future Talent Pipeline

Workforce readiness begins early. STEM, AI, and digital literacy build the skilled talent your industry will need in the next 5–10 years.

Measurable Equity Gap

Gender equity in tech remains a documented disparity that boards, investors, and customers expect corporations to address through action.

Wellbeing Drives Outcomes

Youth mental and physical wellbeing influence educational achievement and long-term opportunity, strengthening communities and resilience.
